Agenda Item #4: Next Steps

Discussion

- Leo: There are a very large number of things happening that only usually happen once in a blue moon. There are a lot of economical problems; we've been thinking too much about making more money.
- Mike: The principle value I've been teaching is respect.
- Leo: I think the pendulum is coming back and rapidly and people are going to find the value inside them.
- Mike: I would like to talk about fund raising in the next meeting.
- Leo: Did we get billed for Joni's costs yet?
- Mike: No, I haven't sent that letter yet. I'm going to get to it this week.
- Mike: The other thing we discussed last week was to have public events every three months and now is not too early to start planning. That is where I would like to go next time we have a quorum.
- Leo: We need to pick a small number of priorities that should go into the master plan.
- Mike: I think in some cases it will reinforce what they're doing and in some cases it will modify it.
- Leo: My thought is we still need a couple months working on the things for the master plan. There's going to be a number of discussions still to come. It's important next week to figure out what the priorities are.
